

Planning for Individuals with Disabilities: Today, Tomorrow & Beyond

Tuesday
September 25, 2018
6 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.
Ascend Services, Inc.

Coffee & Refreshments Provided

Join us for a seminar about the changing needs individuals with disabilities face as they age. Life can be complicated, planning the future should not be. A few hours of your time now can save months of stress and aggravation in the future.

Ariel Yang, ADRC

Ariel will talk about the aging process and resources that are available. She will discuss the difference between normal age-related memory changes and more serious memory problems.

Michelle Birschbach, Attorney, Steimle Birschbach LLC

Michelle will discuss why it's important to have an estate plan in place to make sure your wishes are carried out. She will also discuss how to create a memorial through estate planning.

Skip Pfeffer, owner Pfeffer Funeral Home

It may not be easy to talk about a loved one's end-of-life wishes, but it's one of the most important conversations you'll ever have. Skip Pfeffer of Pfeffer Funeral Home will provide an overview of how to plan ahead for a funeral, including what questions to ask and things to consider now, to relieve the burden after a loved one has passed.
